He'll be missed...A going away party was held Monday for Lt. David Estes who is leaving the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, Glades bureau, after 24 years. Lt. Estes will be working in West Palm Beach beginning next week. Captain Michael Mills, (left) presented Lt. Estes with a plaque in appreciation for his years of service.

Tucker files for city commission seat

Crate P. "Happy" Tucker, a former mayor of Belle Glade, is seeking his fifth consecutive term on the Belle Glade City Commission. He filed to retain his seat on Monday, Aug. 7.

Mr. Tucker, 50, says he feels his experience in budgetary matters and knowledge of present and future concerns of the city will be an asset in the coming years.

"I have a genuine feeling for our community and will work diligently to improve it for our citizens," said Mr. Tucker.

Mr. Tucker and his wife, Alicia, have three children, Connie (Diaz), Jason and Melissa and one grandson, Peyton.

Tomorrow is the last day to qualify for a seat on the city commission.

Mayor Steve Weeks and Commissioner Rodney "Clay" Connell filed last week to retain their seats. None of the incumbents have drawn opposition for the seats they currently hold.

If no one challenges the incumbents, the election will be cancelled, and the three men will automatically retain their seats, according to Debra Buff, city clerk.

Man throws gasoline in girlfriend's face

Jenkins has been arguing over another woman at about 10 p.m. that evening.

She said Jenkins left the living room where they were arguing and went into the kitchen where he kept a can of gasoline.

Jenkins allegedly poured the gasoline into a 12 ounce plastic cup and went back into the living room and threw the gas into Ms. Pickens' face. He then ran out of the house.

Ms. Pickens said her boyfriend never tried to ignite the gas but she experienced pain from the burning sensation of the fluid in her eyes and face. The incident was witnessed by Ms. Pickens' daughters.

Det. Quinones arrested Jenkins and charged him with attempted first degree arson, and one count of aggravated domestic battery.

Jenkins is in the county jail with no bond.

Curfew during hurricanes a possibility

The possibility of having a curfew during hurricane warnings and/or mandatory evacuations was discussed at Tuesday night's Pahokee City Commission meeting.

Commissioners said the curfew would be city-wide from dusk to dawn, only during hurricane-type situations. The idea is to discourage crimes, such as burglaries and robberies, from happening during emergency evacuations when residents would be leaving their homes unattended.

Police Chief C. Salvatore, III, supported the motion saying, "The only people who need be out in emergency hurricane situations are the police and other emergency units."

Commissioner Keith Babb, Jr. was against the city-wide curfew saying, "I feel it should only cover the areas in danger by the storm."

Attorney Michael Stauffer is looking into the different possibilities of how to handle this motion either way (city-wide or just the sections in danger).

Officer to transfer out of the Glades after 24 years

By Buffle Chapman
Staff writer

Friends and co-workers hosted a going away party Monday, Aug. 7 for Lt. David Estes of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department. Lt. Estes will be transferred to the coast Aug. 13. Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office Headquarters will be his new location.

Lt. Estes, 46, was drafted into the Army at age 18 and became a Military Police (MP), then moved to Pahokee in 1970 to be with his wife Sharon. Lt. Estes joined Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department or "the Glades" in 1971 as a patrol officer. "Many people do not realize that South Bay, Belle Glade and Pahokee (the Glades) are actually part of Palm Beach County," said Lt. Estes. He has been with Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office for almost 25 years.

Lt. Estes worked "Search and Rescue" for the PBCSO. His job, like most, has had good moments, like having saved a few people from drowning in Lake Okeechobee, and also saving a boy from a submerged car in a canal who was in an automobile accident on SR 715. It's also had its bad moments, like searching all night in Lake Okeechobee for two of his friends who had drowned.

"Lt. Estes has been with the department 24 years. He is familiar with all entities of police matters and has been an asset to our department. Unfortunately, it is part of our rotation system to move officers around. It is our loss and the coast's gain," said Captain Michael Mills.

Fellow worker Detective George Peck pointed out that most of Lt. Estes' friends call him by his nickname "Wormy" because of his small size. "He will be missed," added Deputy B. Wilson.

Lt. Estes said he will also miss the people he's worked with through the years, Carol Lamb, Nancy Browder, Annette Francis, Johnny Raulerson and the late Steve Haller, to name a few.

Lt. Estes, his wife Sharon and two daughters presently live in Loxahatchee. He plans to remain there while working as Watch Commander for headquarters at the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department in Palm Beach.

"I didn't request the move but will take it. I haven't been the new kid on the block for 24 years," said Lt. Estes.

Police find car believed to have been used in shooting in South Bay

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

A Grand Am abandoned in a cane field in South Bay is believed to be the get-away car used in the recent shooting of a South Bay officer.

Lt. Pat Lynch with the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department said a 1980 Pontiac Grand Am with a punched out steering column, paper tag and tinted windows was found over the weekend.

A car fitting the same description was used by a man who shot Officer Robert C. Drake July 29 about 9:30 p.m. during a routine stop. Officer

Drake had stopped to investigate a car parked on the side of the road on Northwest First Avenue when the driver shot the officer in the right right side of the chest.

Officer Drake was wearing a bulletproof vest and was not injured. He returned fire as the car sped away, getting off two shots.

Officer Drake was taken to Glades General Hospital where he was looked after and released. He was placed on administrative leave while the sheriff's department handled the investigation. He is now back at work.

"Glades Track Club wins several medals in California competition

By Brenda Bunting

Glades Track Club Coach Mike White says competition was much stronger at this year's Junior Olympics, held in San Jose, California.

"Scores that would have netted a first place win for the girls last year wouldn't even get them in the top eight this year," he says.

Five girls attended the competition this year with Coach White and Coach Dave Brannan. The competition was held July 25 through July 29 at San Jose City College. Two of the girls who competed are from Lake Shore Middle School and three are students at Glades Central Community High School.

The team won a total of five medals, with Chimere Outler taking two, a silver and fourth place. Tiphany McKenzie, who will be a senior this year at Glades Central, set a state record in the young women's 100 meter hurdles with a toss of 99 feet, one inch, but only took eighth place in the overall competition. Danella Bythwood, a sophomore this year, took eighth place in the Heptathlon, and Chimere Outler, a freshman, took fourth place in the 200-meter hurdles and second in the Youth Pentathlon.

The Heptathlon included seven events this year, including the 100 meter hurdles, high jump, shot put, 200 meter dash, javelin throw and the 800 meter run. The Pentathlon consisted of five parts, the 100 meter hurdles, the shot put, high jump, long jump and the 800 meter run.

The Glades Track Club accepts students from age nine up to 18 years of age, says Coach White. "We look for girls with a lot of potential," he said. "A lot of these girls are young. We're expecting a lot out of Danella Bythwood next year."

Next year, the competition will be in Houston, Texas, and the team is already looking forward to the competition.

Many local businesses and individuals contribute money to help with the funding for these girls to attend the competition.

"I want to say thanks to all the local citizens and businesses who contributed this year to help us to this competition," said Coach White, "and tell them that we are looking forward to next year's competition in Houston."

Information about Florida's weather

By Mike Lyons

"I don't predict the weather, I read the weather." So says the lead character in Steve Thayer's new novel called The Weatherman (Viking, 1995).

It is a book in which the main character is a meteorologist. I think I just died and went to heaven!

This is no ordinary meteorologist. Mr. Thayer describes a man who relies less on computers and weather satellites and more on his own eyes to predict changes in the weather. He "reads the weather".

In the novel's opening chapter, our hero's "reading" of storm clouds and a rapidly dropping barometer tells him that a giant tornado is about to develop. He's right, of course. The tornado is huge. A monster that begins to destroy part of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

The weatherman, who works for a leading Minneapolis television station, immediately begins to warn residents that the tornado is heading their way. He tells folks what to do, where to go and does so in a calm, reassuring voice.

The tornado rips a one-mile-wide path of destruction through the community, injuring dozens of people and claiming several lives. Yet, many more people would have died if it had not been for the weatherman. He's called a hero.

But is he a killer, too? Just hours before the giant tornado develops, police discover the dead body of a young woman. She's been strangled. A few months earlier another woman was murdered just before a big snow storm. Are the two connected? Is there a seasonal killer wandering the streets of Minneapolis? You'll have to pick up the book to find out the answer.

You may not like the answers in another new novel about the weather and meteorologists. In Heavy Weather (Bantam Books, 1995), author Bruce Sterling describes a world where the weather has gone wild. The ozone is gone. The climate has changed dramatically. The government is in disarray.

Heavy Weather tells the story of a group of "battle-hardened" weather nerds and meteorologists living independently on the desolate plains of what was north Texas. The group is in pursuit of one goal-to document the first F6 tornado.

In the real world, an F6 tornado can never be attained. An F5 tornado, which can have winds between 261 and 318 mph, is a very rare event.

Yet, Heavy Weather is not the real world. In this climate-ravaged period in the near future, an F6 is possible and meteorologist Jerry Mulcahey and his hand of weather buffs chase and sometimes catch tornadoes.

If you're interested in a book about the real world of Florida weather let me recommend The Climate and Weather of Florida (Pineapple Press, 1994). Written by James Henry, Kenneth Portier and Jan Coyne, the book, which does read like a textbook at times, is an examination of the weather in the Sunshine State.

The authors explain how our weather works with a special focus on thunderstorms, tornadoes and hurricanes. There is also a chapter on what changes in the world's climate would do to the weather in Florida. If you're interested in the weather you'll want to check out these three books.

Mike Lyons is the weatherman for WPBF, Channel 25.

Health FIRST

cent of victims are female, which leaves 5 percent of the male gender abused. (I was cautioned by a law enforcement friend of mine to be sure to include the men in this article).

Only 20 percent of the women abused will leave the abuser after the first incident and 60 percent will leave eventually. Another frightening statistic is that one in 12 pregnant women are battered, causing the number of miscarriages to double.

Domestic violence is the actual victimization of a person with whom the abuser has or has had an intimate and/or romantic relationship. The victim and the batterer often share some of the same risk factors: 1. They witnessed parental violence as a child or adolescent, and 2. They experienced physical or sexual abuse as a child or adolescent. Power and control are the motivation for most batterers. They use intimidation, emotional abuse, isolation, minimizing, denying and blaming, coercion and threats, economic abuse, male privilege, and even use children to gain that power and control.

There are three common phases to most abuse which is known as the cycle of violence. In phase one there is increased tension between the partners, where the victim feels like they must "walk on eggshells" to avoid any conflict. Lots of anger, blaming and arguing also can occur. Phase two (also known as the "Big Bang") is when the actual battering, hitting, slapping, kicking, choking, or use of objects or weapons, takes place. Sexual abuse and verbal threats and abuse can also occur. This phase is usually the shortest and most violent phase, and happens often on holidays and weekends.

Phase three is the calm stage. Generally the man will deny the violence, say he was drunk, say he's sorry, and promise that it will never happen again. Because the victim usually wants to believe him, she sees his remorse, possibly the gifts he brings, and she usually does not leave him at this time.

As the frequency of the "cycle" increases, the longer they remain in the relationship, the more violent it becomes. It is imperative to formulate a safety plan. In many communities there are now shelters for battered women and children can remain with the mothers for up to six weeks. Locally the YWCA has a Domestic Violence Hotline: (407) 655-6106, open 24-hours a day, seven days a week.

Remember, nobody has the right to hurt another person. It takes courage to decide to go for help. Remember, you are not alone...you don't deserve to be treated this way...you are NOT to blame...you are not crazy...help is available.

Encourage anyone you know in this situation to seek help soon.

Until next time...stay informed and stay healthy!

Second annual Families Forum set for Sept. 30

The Glades Second Annual Families Forum will take place Sept. 30 from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., at the new Glades Central Community High School. The school is located at 39600 S.W. Ave. M, Belle Glade.

Open to the entire Glades community, the forum is an opportunity for residents of western Palm Beach County to address local and state officials about concerns they may have related to a variety of issues.

Last year, over 400 residents attended and discussed issues such as affordable housing, health care, safety, education, and family support. Over 100 issues were identified during the one-day forum ranging from the need for more recreational opportunities for teens, to employers allowing parents flex time to participate in school activities.

Linda Schenker, director of community relations for the Palm Beach County Health Care District, said some of the accomplishments that have taken place as a result of last year's forum are:

- changing tables were added to restrooms at the Palm Beach County Health Department;
- street lights were installed in targeted areas;
- bathrooms at the health department are being regularly checked and cleaned;
- an HRS building is receiving much needed repairs.

Members of the Coordinating Committee say they would like to appear on public service shows between now and Sept. 30, to discuss improvements that have been made as a result of last year's forum, and to promote this year's forum.

Anyone who would like to schedule a committee member to appear on a public service broadcast should contact Ms. Schenker at (407) 659-1270, ext. 5874.

The forum will include free child care for those who pre-register, refreshments and free transportation.

For more information about the forum, call Elizabeth Hernandez at 996-0129.

Red Cross was there during Hurricane Erin

One shelter was opened in the Glades during Hurricane Erin, but over 500 people flocked to this safe haven from the storm.

West County Service Center Director Scottie Wright said Pahokee High School was open all night during the storm, which fortunately missed Palm Beach County.

Ten shelters were opened county-wide and during this time 10,689 meals were served to 4,000 Palm Beach County residents needing food, comfort and safety.

Those services required the efforts of over 49 local Red Cross volunteers.

Linda Floyd, state financial development director for the American Red Cross, said the expense of being prepared and protecting those needing shelter in Palm Beach County totaled $50,000 and that figure is anticipated to reach $3 million for the state.

Although damage caused by Hurricane Erin in Palm Beach County was limited, Ms. Floyd said it is important that county residents do not underestimate the need for similar preventive measures when future storms approach.

The Palm Beach County Chapter is making an appeal for financial donations for Hurricane Erin.

To assist, send contributions to the Disaster Relief Fund (Erin) c/o Palm Beach County Chapter, American Red Cross, P.O. Box 870, West Palm Beach, FL 33402-0870, or call Ms. Wright at the local office,

Credit card donations may be made by calling 1-800-HELP-NOW or 1-800-257-7575 (Spanish).

Volunteers are also needed for future disaster, call Ms. Wright to volunteer.

Commissioner shouldn't take credit

I just wanted to Speak Out about this upcoming election we are having in the City of Belle Glade. I wanted to say that I really like Mr. Weeks. He has been a good mayor and seems to really be trying hard to help the City of Belle Glade.

The other guy, Rodney Connell I'm not so sure about. He says all streets and sidewalks are better and that all the departments at city hall are running good. Well, that's all good, but it seems to me like the city manager and all the good people who work for the city are the ones who deserve credit for that.

All Mr. Connell did was say it was okay to spend the money to do the work and that probably would have happened with or without his vote.

He says our parks are cleaner and we have better playground equipment. Well, again, money probably came from somewhere else and all he had to do was say "thanks."

We are really happy to have all this for the little children, but where was Mr. Connell when they took away the money for the youth center for our older children? I see Mr. Weeks was helpful but where was Mr. Connell?

As for his goals to clean up the levy, that's all well and good, but who is going to do the work? And the sewer and water plants are something that has to be done anyway, how can you say that you are doing that work?

Next time Mr. Connell, tell us something you did to help us.

We want to help someone who will help us. We need to have more policemen so they (drug dealers) will quit selling drugs all day and all night and quit stealing everything.

We need places for our children to go after school and we need to clean this city up. We need people who will stand up for us and quit letting people walk all over us.

You told us two years ago and even last year at election that we need to help you. We can't keep helping you if you won't help us sometime too.

Concerned citizens of Belle Glade

Concerned Citizen,

I am sorry you feel the way you do, but the fact is that we do have a Commission/Manager form of government. We, the city commissioners, set policy and give direction to the city manager. True, the city manager does the everyday business of the city, as does the manager of any good business.

We will gladly to help you in any way I can if you will personally come and talk to me. I have tried to address any concerns brought before me by the citizens of Belle Glade. And, I truly believe I have done a good job in my first two years as a commissioner.

Sincerely,

Rodney Clay Connell

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

Is there anyone in Florida who cares?

My husband, Dan Routly, is a human being created by God. Dan has been innocent on Florida's death row since Nov. 1980, sitting on Florida's death row since Nov. 1980, innocent of the crime. While the actual guilty party, a woman, may still be in the Flint, Michigan area.

Dan was handed a jury recommendation of "life." However, this was over-ruled by our all too powerful judges. Judge Carven Angel (Ocala) in particular.

Why even have a jury, I ask? Personally, I'd have a real problem being a juror in the state of Florida. If they trust our judgement as far as a verdict, then why not on the actual sentence?

That is too much power for one person, and it has to end now. It is much easier to corrupt one person as opposed to twelve. Let's face it, unless we can all afford a "dream team" like O.J., we lose. It is a sad fact in our country today.

I urge all Floridians to contact Governor Chiles regarding the jury issue!

I know at least two people in the Flint, Michigan area and several in the Ocala, area, who can help save my husband's life. They know the truth about what happened in June 1979, and I urge you to please come forward. You know a lot more than the jury got to hear.

Besides, even the Judge (Angel) didn't take the jury's recommendation. That is a slap in the face to all of us residents of the State of Florida who serve on a jury.

If a judge has the ultimate word, why bother having a jury? For decoration?

Honestly, it would be very difficult for me to take a call to jury duty very seriously, knowing that I would not be trusted on the sentence. WE THE PEOPLE, remember?

We are all human (even judges)...God knows the truth. Meanwhile, Dan Routly, # 076205, is on death row at Union Correctional Institution, in Raiford, and has been, since Nov. 1980. Waiting...for someone who knows the truth, to please come forward. He sits there innocent of the crime.

Is there anyone in Florida who cares?

Thanks!

Sincerely,

Linda A. Routly

Governor Chiles' workers' compensation reforms help to hold the line on insurance rates

Governor Lawton Chiles recently hailed the continued stability of workers' compensation rates in Florida as proof his landmark reform efforts are producing positive results for the state's businesses and their employees.

For the third year in a row, the National Council on Compensation Insurance, Inc. (NCCI) - the industry's rate-setting arm - has announced that it will not increase the premiums Florida businesses pay on workers' compensation insurance.

"The NCCI's decision to hold the line on rates marks the end of an era where Florida businesses suffered greatly from skyrocketing workers' comp rates and users in a new era of better economic opportunity for our businesses and their workers," Governor Chiles said. "Today, we have a workers' comp system that truly works again to protect the people it was designed to serve. Our workers' comp reforms are generating savings for our businesses and helping to save jobs - that's the bottom line."

Florida's business community played a critical role in gaining passage of the Governor's workers' compensation reform package. The state's business leaders are hailing the NCCI's decision to keep rates stable as good news for Florida.

"No rate increase this year is more significant than past rate reductions because it is a true reflection of the market," National Federation Independent Business Florida Director Bill Herle said. "This action shows us that the reform package Governor Chiles fought for is working."

"The Florida Chamber and its business community members are delighted by the announcement of no further workers' comp rate increase for next year," Florida Chamber of Commerce General Counsel Jim Brainerd said. "We recognize this action as a direct result of the 1993 reform and applaud the Governor and Florida Legislature for their efforts in crafting this fine law."

After years of businesses facing double-digit rate increases, Governor Chiles - armed with strong support from Florida's business community - called the Florida legislature into special session in 1993 to tackle workers' compensation reform.

The Governor's efforts produced a victory for working Floridians and the businesses that employ them by gaining passage of a workers' comp reform package that slashes rates by more than 25 percent.

The legislation marked a move away from a system driven by litigation and delays toward a system built on mediation and strong incentives to return to work.

Major provisions of the 1993 workers' compensation reforms include:

- access to prompt, quality medical care for injured employees through the expanded use of managed care;
- an emphasis on mediation rather than litigation as the primary means for resolving disputes;
- limits on attorney's fees;
- new incentives for employees to return to work, along with stronger incentives for businesses to re-employ them;
- new selection and retention processes for workers' compensation judges; and
- incentives for businesses to adopt more stringent safety measures and participate in the Drug-Free Workplace program.

This reform package is one of the most important economic development initiatives ever undertaken in the state.

Since becoming law, the Governor's workers' compensation reforms have helped to create a 10 to 27 percent rate reduction for many Florida employers, produce a 54 percent drop in the number of "petition for benefits" filed during the first six months of 1994 as compared to the first six months of 1993, and a 47 percent drop in the first six months of 1995 as compared to the same time period in 1993; and the reforms have helped to bring nearly 7,000 businesses into compliance with mandatory insurance requirements - extending workers' comp protection to nearly 35,000 additional employees and generating millions in premium payments that otherwise would have been evaded.

New front found in cancer fight

By U.S. Senator Connie Mack

The battle against breast cancer is now being fought by a truly formidable force - the CIA. Scientists from the Central Intelligence Agency are now working with radiologists and cancer specialists to adapt high-tech military into advanced, life-saving mammography technology.

These scientists believe that technology once used for tracking enemy landscape and troop movement can be adapted to discover changes in a woman's mammogram, pointing radiologists to tiny new growths in her breast tissue or increases in the size or changes in position of the growths they are monitoring. The technology works by using a computer to "memorize" a woman's baseline mammogram, then comparing it to later images by aligning them and showing only changes in the mammograms. They believe this technology could detect even the most minute change, leading to even earlier detection that is available to today's technology.

I consider this a tremendous development in cancer research. While much progress has been made in cancer treatments and prevention, this technology is focused on increasing early detection - which is the key to survival in the battle against cancer.

Unfortunately, according to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, only 32 percent of all Medicare beneficiaries living in Florida take advantage of mammography screening provided under Medicare.

With the current mammography technology being 40 years old, this development is long overdue. An American woman is diagnosed with breast cancer every three minutes and one dies every 12 minutes from the disease. I am very optimistic that these new developments will save thousands of lives once the technology is in use - possible as early as 12 to 24 months.

Researchers at the National Institutes of Health recently discovered that a gene which causes some hereditary breast and ovarian cancers may also have a role in much more common, non-inherited versions of these diseases.

The gene is responsible for suppressing the development of cancer when acting normally in the human body. However, this gene may be under-active, or even become flawed, thereby weakening a woman's defenses against non-inherited breast and ovarian cancers.

While these studies are preliminary, I believe this gives us all hope that someday soon we can identify women at risk much earlier than currently possible. Perhaps this will allow us to treat these women while cancer is in its earliest stages, helping us save many more lives.

If you should have any questions or comments about these issues or any other issue before the federal government, please feel free to write to me at 517 Hart Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Speak Out

Hearing's not what it used to be

"Yes, I'm a concerned citizen of Pahokee."

Last week in your newspaper you listed all the new businesses in Pahokee, but you failed to put Gran Maw's Place and also Glades Tinting (not Tanning).

You tried to correct it this week, but it's Glades Tinting, not Tanning.

I've lived in Pahokee for many, many years. I would like to see this Gran Maw's Place and Glades Tinting, not Tanning, in the paper. Thank you."

Editor's note: Thank you for setting the record straight. I apparently misunderstood the person who called me about this omission from the newspaper. We wish all the new businesses in Pahokee, including Gran Maw's Place and Glades Tinting, much success.

Kids need place to play

"I'm a resident of Southeast Second Street in Belle Glade and I've been living here for quite a while, almost 10 years. In the last couple of years people have moved into my neighborhood who have many, many children."

The children apparently have no place to play except in street. And I was wondering if there wasn't some way adult guidance could be given to these children since all these children's parents apparently work and I have about 50 in my front yard right now with no one watching them. Thank you."

Editor's note: It's a sad commentary, but I would advise you to discourage these children from playing in your yard.

If one of them were injured on your property, you could be liable.

I would encourage them to go to the nearest park. We have several very nice parks in various locations throughout the city, including Lyons Park, Pioneer Park, Airport Park and Hand Park.

Thank you for Speaking out.

Guest commentary

By Congressman Alcee L. Hastings

I have been in this Republican-led Congress for eight months, and I am dismayed by the misguided and cruel set of priorities that the Republicans have established.

The Republicans live in a free-market dream world. They believe stable well-paying jobs are plentiful. They believe people live in poverty because they are lazy. In their world there is no racism and there is no discrimination. They are opposed to the concept of collective responsibility. They do not believe government has a role in establishing the moral framework of our society. These thought processes are evidenced when one examines their proposals for the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

HUD is one of the most important programs the federal government operates. It provides housing and assistance to low-income families and individuals. Being somewhat old-fashioned, I am of the belief that people have certain needs which must be met. Secure, safe and affordable housing is one of those basic needs.

The Republicans have cut HUD by 23 percent. Last year, the State of Florida was awarded over $6 million for a Public Housing Drug Elimination program. Under this year's budget, no drug elimination funds will be available during the 1996 fiscal year which starts at the end of September. Despite the fact that Dade County HUD was awarded nearly $3 million and the Broward County Housing Authority was awarded $239,864, in September, at the beginning of the new fiscal year, those agencies will no longer receive money from HUD.

The Reagan Administration correctly lectured our children to "Just say No" to drugs. President Bush ordered U.S. troops to invade Panama and capture Manuel Noriega to stop the flow of drugs into this country. Yet, when it comes to taking drugs out of low income housing and improving security in those same areas, our Republican friends are nowhere to be found. They have decided that eliminating the threat of drugs from the lives of our children is not so vital when it necessitates money and time.

The leaders of this brave new Congress have decided to cut funds which would have gone towards improving dilapidated housing. Leivadir will lose $365,871, Pahokee will lose $390,653, and West Palm Beach will lose $611,699. This is money that would have improved low income housing in these areas and made a difference in the lives of the people who live in those areas. This Congress has decided that poor Americans should not be assisted in their attempts to attain decent housing.

Republican leaders of this Congress have decided poor children do not deserve the very basics in order to stake a claim at life, basic needs that their own children take for granted.

They have also eliminated funding for all new programs that would help individuals with AIDS find housing and cut in half funds to help to alleviate the shameful, growing problem of the increased number of homeless citizens.

We do not live in a country in which the free market solves the dilemma of poverty. If we did, the Reagan - Bush years would have left us a far different legacy other than an enormous deficit and widened gap between the rich and the poor. The Republicans have engaged in broad cuts. They have decided not to use the patience and skill necessary to cut the Federal budget and at the same time preserve programs that are important to this country's future. Instead they have taken a hacksaw to the basic tenets of a true democracy. I pray Americans seek understanding beyond what they hear on television and challenge the Republicans and their faulty assumptions about which we live.

Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility and may be verified at any time during the school year by school or other program officials.

Households that receive Food Stamps or AFDC, "Aid to Families with Dependent Children", are required to list on the application only the child's name and food stamp or AFDC case number, printed name of adult household member and signature of adult household member.

For the school officials to determine eligibility, all other households must provide the following information listed on the application:

1. the total monthly household income must be listed by the amount received by each household member receiving income and the type of income it is (such as wages, child support, etc.)
2. names of all household members
3. Social Security number of the adult signing the application or the word "NONE" for this household member if they do not have a Social Security number; and

4. the signature of an adult household member certifying that the information provided is correct.

Households that list income information and receive meal benefits must report to the school any decreases in household size and any increases in income of over $50 per month or $600 per year. Households that list a food stamp or AFDC case number must report to the school when food stamps or AFDC is no longer received.

Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

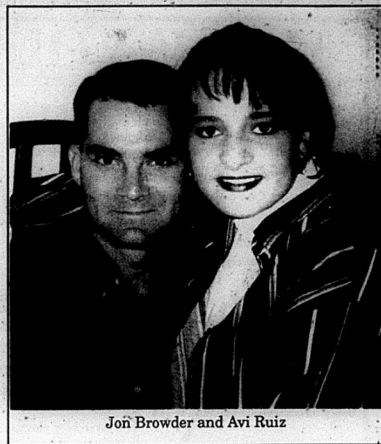

Under the provisions of the free and reduced price meal policy, school food service managers will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent or guardian is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he/she may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. If the parent wishes to make a formal appeal, he/she may make a request either orally or in writing to Joy B. Miltenberger, director of school food service, 7061 Garden Road, Riviera Beach, FL 33404, for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure.

If a household member becomes unemployed or if the household size changes, the school should be contacted. Such changes may make the children of the household eligible for reduced price meals, or for additional benefits such as free meals for them, if the household income falls at or below the levels shown above.

In the operation of child feeding programs administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, sex, national origin, age or handicap. If any member of a household believes he has been discriminated against, he should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.
